The Centre Beaudesert

Life on Film incorporates two key components - Physical Video and Point of View. Physical Video features thematically diverse video art drawn from the Queensland Art Gallery's Collection. Each work engages the human body and shows how artists use physical gestures and actions to illustrate social, political and aesthetic concerns.

Point of View showcases digital and new media works by Scenic Rim and visiting artists, as well as students and young filmmakers, to explore local stories and perspectives on life. It includes Home and Monuments public art and a story sharing project by pioneering projection artist Craig Walsh.

ABOVE & BELOW

27 MARCH - 15 JULY

The Centre Beaudesert

Artists Mary Elizabeth Barron and Therese Flynn-Clarke reflect on our environment and place from ground level and aerial viewpoints through their exhibitions Under Foot and Patterns of my Days (Rights of Nature).

Under Foot by Mary Elizabeth Barron

The beauty in the often less appreciated and noticed natural wonders beneath our feet has inspired this body of work, which draws attention to the intricacies of natural debris. The colour, shape and textural qualities of leaves in their dying stages, fallen bark and twigs are complex and intriguing. These elements are often either un-noticed or considered green waste.

Shrines to Nature and Vessels of Nature

These sculptural containers celebrate the diversity of colours and textures and the natural plant materials from which they are made.

Patterns of my Days (Rights of Nature) by Therese Flynn-Clarke

Therese's art practice has long held a deep connection to place. The opportunity to connect visually and viscerally to many places in remote and regional Queensland has inspired the Patterns of my Days component within this exhibition.

SCENIC RIM HERITAGE NETWORK

The Scenic Rim region is rich in history and is home to a number of fascinating and well-resourced museums which play a key role in preserving our region's cultural heritage. The Scenic Rim Heritage Network (SRHN) is open to community museums and heritage groups and is supported by Scenic Rim Regional Council's Heritage Project Officer and a Queensland Museums Officer.

It includes historical villages and museums that chart the progress and development of architecture, farming techniques, living arrangements, politics and major events throughout the Scenic Rim.

Meetings of the SRHN are held quarterly at museums around the region. The network has been instrumental in developing signage for our Vibrant Towns and Villages project, to create a sense of place in our communities, and is working on the development of heritage trails across the region.
